

A-Core Container

How to equip the signal base station with a power supply

Overview

If required, connect the GNSS receiver to an external 12 V power supply. Use the crocodile clip cable or the Trimble custom power pack. The following figures show a tripod and tribrach setup: Receiver with a low-grain "rubber duck" antenna Receiver with an external high-gain antenna

How to equip the signal base station with a power supply

Contact Us

For catalog requests, pricing, or partnerships, please visit:
<https://a-core.pl>